NASA Plan Outlined

Tell How U.S. Will Get Land

Representatives of Uncle Sam's top brass in the race to the moon came to Logtown Wednesday afternoon to explain to a gathering of more than 1,000 persons why 114,800 acres in Hancock County must be cleared for the lunar landing test site and how the federal government plans to go about the job.

It was the first time various agency representatives have undertaken such an explanation on a giant property acquisition program and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and Army Corps of Engineers speakers indicated they will follow the same procedure in the future.

Virtually every resident of the affected area, officials and civic leaders from Hancock and neighboring counties crowded into Logtown School's athletic field in the boiling sunshine to hear an address by Sen. John Stennis, member of the Senate space committee, and then a two-hour question and answer session with NASA and Engineers Corps spokesmen.

Technical speakers were Kurt Berlin, NASA general counsel; Lt. Col. Secret Berry of the NASA site selection committee, left, and Kurt Berlin, general counsel for NASA, address rally.

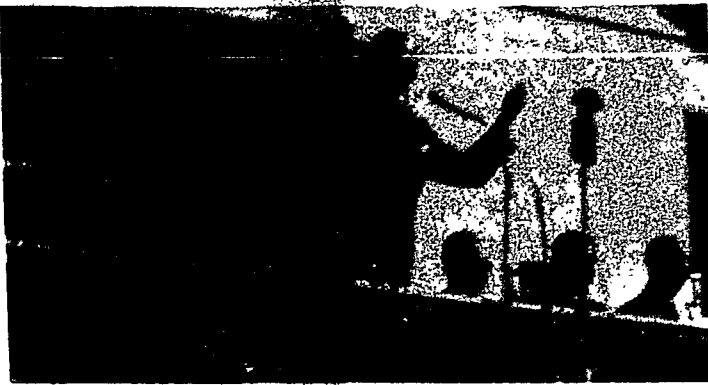

Three men from the real estate division went to work in the Courthouse compiling facts on the property and hope to wind up their work in about two weeks. They then will take the material back to the office to digest it and probably will return later to fill in some gaps.

The work is turning into much of a round-the-clock operation with the men taking their findings back to the motel to work on it at night. They burned the midnight oil until 11 a.m. Monday and were back on the job bright and early Tuesday.

One complicating factor is that in many instances four or five different deeds are needed to get one ownership and with (Cont. on Page 4.)

Colonel Berry said the moon landing engine tests here will be under the direct supervision of a scientific and engineering team from NASA headquarters in Washington and the Dr. Werner Von Braun team from Huntsville, Ala.

STENNIS EMPHASIZES NEED FOR SPACE RACE

Stennis Cites Race to Space

Sen. John B. Stennis, addressing property owners in the lunar landing test site area at the Logtown rally yesterday, assured them the federal government is trying to make the burden as light as possible under the circumstances.

It is ready and willing to pay everyone affected the full dollar and cents value for their land, he declared, expressing home court action would be at a minimum. He cautioned also about land speculators "trying to make money on you."

Stennis then emphasized that the world situation is such that "the entire nation must arm to the teeth although there is no shooting war" and cited the vital nature of the space race.

As to whether Hancock County will become a target area in event of war, he said he could not guarantee but noted New Orleans with the Mississippi River and its transportation facilities "are far more of a target now than you could possibly be as a missile test center."

To concern about operation of schools with a large population influx, the senator cited the 1954 federal assistance law for Squirrel Hunting.

Warren Hale, Long Beach grocer, formerly of Bay St. Louis, was taken to Hancock General Hospital early Wednesday after accidentally shooting himself in his right hip. Hale, Gerald V. Price, Jr., and James Ruhl were hunting squirrels on the Scotty Eustice farm near Logtown when the accident occurred. He pulled his 22 calibre automatic pistol from a holster, shot at a squirrel, as he replaced the gun in the holster his foot slipped on a log and the bullet entered his hip penetrating almost through the back of his upper thigh. He was released Thursday. The trio bagged 14 squirrels.

Fred E. Fayard, American Legion chairman of Clement R. Bontemps Post 139, American Legion, is inviting all veterans' organizations and other groups to participate in the Veterans' Day Parade which will begin at 10 a.m. at Bay High School on Saturday, Nov. 11.

All scouts, cub scouts, Brownie troops, county, city and parochial schools, bands and marching units are urged to take part in this event which will be climaxed by ceremonies at the Hancock County Courthouse.

Engineers Commence Title Check

The Army Corps of Engineers Monday launched its preliminary title ownership study toward acquisition by the federal government of some 114,800 acres in Hancock County for its giant Saturn and Nova static testing facility.

Three men from the real estate division went to work in the Courthouse compiling facts on the property and hope to wind up their work in about two weeks. They then will take the material back to the office to digest it and probably will return later to fill in some gaps.

The work is turning into much of a round-the-clock operation with the men taking their findings back to the motel to work on it at night. They burned the midnight oil until 11 a.m. Monday and were back on the job bright and early Tuesday.

Form Area NASA Welcoming Group

The NASA Personnel Assistance Committee of Hancock County was organized Tuesday at a meeting of Mayor John A. Scatfield and the city commissioners with a group of Bay St. Louis and Waveland citizens to welcome and offer aid to both temporary and permanent new residents who will be employed at the Saturn booster test site in the county.

The committee will make available immediately lists of available housing and assist in locating dwellings for construction personnel expected here in a few weeks. It will endeavor to provide information and other services to facilitate the location of 500 to 1,000 new families who probably will move here as well as helping residents who must be moved from the test site area and the surrounding easement zone.

Symbol of the committee will be the state flower, the magnolia, with the stamen replaced by a Saturn rocket and bearing the letters NASAPAC. Local merchants and businessmen will display it as identification of their participation in this aid to new residents program.

In welcoming those whom the NASA project will bring, the mayor and Commissioners Cyril Glover and Warren Traub warned, "There have been rumors of some individuals who are greedily licking their chops and rubbing their palms, anticipating huge profits from these people who will be coming into our area to live."

Increases in real estate and prices "would be a most insincere and crude way of extending a warm welcome," they noted, as well as being unfair to those forced out of their homes.

Mental Retardation, III Difference Cited
The difference between mental illness, which means sickness of the mind, and mental retardation which means impairment or incomplete mental development, was cited by Dr. A. K. Martinovich, Jr., in an address to the Hancock County Assn. for Retarded Children last Thursday night.

"The child who is retarded is not able to learn as much as other children," he explained. "What he is able to learn, he learns much more slowly. He cannot reason as well as the average child. He often uses poor judgment. It takes him longer to figure things out. Many of these children will need some kind of professional help and varying amounts of supervision during their lives."

"Most children who are mentally retarded," continued Dr. Martinovich, "do not have obvious physical defects. But there are other signs which may mean that a child is retarded. He may take a great deal longer to start to hold things and to recognize people and common objects. It may take him much longer to turn over, sit up, crawl, or stand. Instead of learning to walk and talk when most children do, he may not learn these skills until he is 3, 4, or 5 years old."

The important point to remember, he concluded, is that the mentally retarded can be helped.

Dr. A.P. Smith, Veteran Physician, Dies at 77

Dr. Alvah Purser Smith, pioneer Bay St. Louis physician who officiated at the delivery of more infants here than any other person, died Monday afternoon at Hancock General Hospital where he had been a patient for 10 days after suffering a heart attack.

The funeral was Wednesday afternoon from First Baptist Church of which he was president of trustees, with Dr. Franklin Atkinson, pastor, and Rev. Schuyler Batson, former pastor, officiating. Burial was in the Garden of Memories.

Born in Brookhaven May 27, 1884, the son of Jesse M. and Julia Tyler Smith, Dr. Smith was graduated in pharmacy from Tulane University in 1906 and subsequently worked his way through medical school there, receiving his degree in 1915. His marriage to the former Miss Clara Esperance Audier of New Orleans took place Nov. 27, 1907, and after he completed his medical training the couple moved to Bay St. Louis, shortly after the 1915 hurricane.

Before completing his degree requirements he practiced in Louisiana. During his early days as a doctor, Dr. Smith practiced both pharmacy and medicine, and when the epidemic hit the country during World War I, he was busy in both fields, being the only doctor in the town.

As a young doctor, he made his house calls on foot and his family recalls it was a big day when the 1915 hurricane.

Test Site Problem

The news most directly important to Hancock County in this century was disclosed last week when Uncle Sam filed a suit in Biloxi that in essence places some 36 per cent of the county in federal control. The reasons for this action and many details of procedure, as well as answers to specific problems, were answered yesterday at Logtown by representatives of the governmental departments involved and the broad picture of the need for the test site was explained by Senator John Stennis.

We thought the program interesting though long and came away feeling that, to the extent legally possible, the United States will play fair with the Hancock Countyans whose property is being taken away from them. Our feeling is based on an assumption that people better qualified than anyone in Hancock County and probably in Mississippi decided that the northwestern third of our county was the best place for location of a test site for the Saturn rocket engine to be built not far away at the Michoud plant. We also suspect that the decision as to location of the test site was largely determined by the decision to reopen the Michoud plant, this notwithstanding the assurance that all the coastal areas from the middle Atlantic area of the country through the Gulf to the bottom of Texas and the Pacific coast up to the northern boundary of Oregon was considered.

The big picture is what is good for the United States of America and Senator Stennis, a member of the Space and of the Armed Forces Committee of the U. S. Senate, adequately explained the need for this country not to fall behind Russia in ability to travel in outer space. If we are correct in our assumptions, there can be no sound argument against the national government's action except on matters of detail.

One detail we earlier wondered about was why the need for the buffer or easement area, 101,300 acres in Hancock County alone. It was explained very simply—the sound vibrations created by testing the Saturn rocket while not particularly annoying to persons in the buffer area might, because of their low-frequency nature, cause buildings to collapse, and, again presumably, Uncle Sam doesn't want to be responsible for killing someone inadvertently.

There were, however, some details we think should be cleared up formally and some regrets we cannot but have.

The understandably romantic and emotional attachment many people in the area are bound to feel about their HOME is something no few dollars can pay for, but it is not legally something our government CAN pay for. Some families will find that the really true value of their home will not pay for the home they choose to move to. Moving expenses are not at present authorized, but this disadvantage will probably be removed before the first family has to move. Other details probably need clarification and even a change in our laws, but it is unlikely that anyone in the affected area will suffer any more than many of those ordered to active duty with the 134th Transportation Company, Mississippi National Guard.

One aspect we think important needs legal clarification and for that reason a change should be made. That is the suit itself. Elsewhere on this page is printed a verbatim copy of the proceedings so far filed concerning property in Mississippi except for owners' names and description of property involved. An examination of the "easement" provision shows it to be a request for an "injunction", a quite different process. It also does not provide, as government officials publicly stated yesterday, that a property owner in the buffer area, if the property is small in area, at his or her election, could be paid for the "fee" or total interest in the property. The problem involved is that a "small" property owner who is not permitted to live on land he owns in fee simple (absolute ownership) or even use it for many purposes such as dairy farming and has to live five or more miles away couldn't get "fair" financial value under the terms of the suit as filed by Uncle Sam and the government can not legally be bound by its agents' verbal statements. Our reasoning: the landowner couldn't use the land and could only sell it to a very restricted group of purchasers such as International Paper Company.

Our suggestion: the federal government amend its complaint to formally provide that any property owner in the "easement" area may insist that he be paid for the full value of a fee simple interest in his property. Some may not wish to do so because by selling a limited property right, an easement, he's in a mighty fine position to be one that the old family homestead stays in his hands should his wife decide to stop testing rockets in Hancock County.

DR. SMITH AT HOSPITAL DEDICATION

Doctor Smith

Any county of 15,000 loses good citizens almost every day—automobile accidents as well as age taking care of that. Most of them are memorialized only in the hearts of their fellowmen—the highest memorialization anyone can have. A few receive a more recorded mention, usually through newspapers, because they typify something the editor of the paper thinks important.

This editor first met Dr. A. P. Smith on a Sunday afternoon when Dr. Smith made a house call on an ill neighbor. There's not a whole lot more of a personal nature he ever knew of Dr. Smith. That he was first a pharmacist, then a doctor, started the first hospital-type treatment place in Hancock County, practiced medicine here for more than 45 years, has been honored by his school, Tulane University, and his church, the First Baptist Church, those things we know.

Because of his reputation, as well as his record, the editor knows a whole lot more. He knows that Hancock County lost when Dr. Smith died Monday. He knows there are many persons alive today that are so because of Dr. Smith. That of itself is a fine tribute to anyone.

To us, however, Dr. Smith typified something even larger, greater, bigger or whatever you wish to call it. He typified the family physician—the horse-and-buggy doctor, except automobiles were used by him.

From our viewpoint, Dr. Smith represented the best in medical practice and in humanity. Specialists are needed, even when they work on the right foot, not the left. The family physician, the general practitioner, the doctors Smith are still our best source of medical attention, when needed.

Dr. Smith was an excellent example of why Hancock County should oppose the non-personalized and cold socialized medicine now being advocated by many sources.

By Gone Days

10 YEARS AGO

Nov. 2, 1951—"The first requisite for the promotion and building of your town is that each citizen must BELIEVE in his city," Edward A. Khaym, vice president of the Mass Point-Pascagoula bank, told the Chamber of Commerce at the kick-off meeting of the 1951-52 season Thursday.

25 YEARS AGO

Oct. 30, 1936—"The title and accompanying honor of queen of the annual harvest festival and ball at St. Joseph Academy fell to the lot of Irma Belle Fahey, senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Fahey, when ballots were counted last Friday. Margaret Jane Williams was designated maid of honor as second place and Ethyl Pinky of Pass Christian was third.

NASA Plan

related matters are discussed editorially on Page 4. Figure said Mississippi appraisers will be used to determine fair market value. While the Defense Department provides for the cost of families moving out of an area it acquires, similar legislation for NASA is pending in Congress, he reported. It was made clear present boundaries are firm and a one-time full payment will be made on easements.

Churches in the buffer zone can not be used, all human habitation of building being forbidden when testing begins. If it is wished, the federal government will move cemeteries. Those in the test zone cannot be used in the future but those in the easement zone can. There are an estimated 13 churches and nine cemeteries involved.

At the start one vehicle a month will be tested in the project to get ahead of Russia in space. Missiles will not be sent aloft from this site, only the engines manufactured at the Michoud installation in New Orleans tested. Future relocation of State R. 43, running from Westons to Picaune will be made in cooperation with the State Highway Department. Travel on U. S. 90 and Interstate 10 will not be affected.

Colonel Berry and Berlin stressed that the sudden announcement of the site selection and filing of court proceedings were to prevent land speculation.

Questions covered all manner of topics, including state and local taxation which the panel was not equipped to handle. One even inquired whether the displaced landowner could move flowers from his property. The answer: Yes.

Chevy II Nova 400 Sport Coupe—just as nifty, where this one came from

This one was on the road to success right from the start, a new kind of solid simplicity blended with economy and dependability. Beneath the hood... a frugal 4-cylinder 6-cylinder engine (year choice in most models). Nine new models... sedans, wagons, hardtop and convertible.

If you're looking for sensibility at its Sunday best—join the celebration at your Chevrolet dealer's. It's Chevrolet's golden anniversary year, and this new Chevy II is making it a year to remember with a new line built especially to save you money on service and maintenance. # Harry Hears... A Meeting in Baton Rouge

Of the sporting world, at least that in the southern part of the United States, is looking forward to Saturday night where in the city of Baton Rouge, Louisiana State University and the University of Mississippi renew a football rivalry which is traditionally the biggest game of the season for both teams.

Kidnappers would say the Rebels have the best team. LSU, however, has played a much rougher schedule than the Johnny Rebs and therefore would not have been expected to pick up the points. Ole Miss has a 5-1 mark and the Rebs are 6-0.

We don't think the Tigers' home loss to Rice should be counted. We don't think the Tigers' home loss to Rice should be counted. We don't think the Tigers' home loss to Rice should be counted.

talent Is Everywhere

Both teams are filled with material. Depth is good both ways. LSU has an advantage in quarterbacks. Doug Elmore, Glen Davis and Perry Lee Dunn form the best passing trio on any team anywhere in collegiate ball. We would have to give LSU the edge in the rest of the backfield positions. Wendell Harris, Bo Campbell and Ray Wilkins are all capable halfbacks. Both as runners and in pass receiving. The Rebels have Billy Adams at fullback and he's hard to stop, especially when short yardage is needed. LSU's fullback twoosome, Earl Gros and Charlie Brown, both can drive hard for good yardage, and Crawford is a special snapper.

Thoughts of Years Gone By

In the memory of Ole Miss fans will always be the last three regularly scheduled meetings. In 1958 in Baton Rouge the game was a rout. LSU won 14-0 and kept the Rebs from an undefeated season. In 1959 Ole Miss, again in Baton Rouge, was favored. The teams went into the Halloween night affair with spotless records. The great All-American Billy Cannon seemed just like a ghost, leading through the arms of the entire Rebel team on the way to an 80-yard touchdown punt return that gave LSU a 7-3 win. Last year, the Rebels went into the game with a 1-4 record and Ole Miss was undefeated. Despite the fact the game was in Oxford, LSU led until the final six seconds when Rebel Allen Green's long field goal poked a 6-6 tie for the Rebs. Still, it ruined a perfect season for Ole Miss.

SEC Round Up

Also on the Southeastern Conference card Alabama's undefeated Crimson Tide faces Mississippi State in Tuscaloosa. The Maroons are fresh from a 23-16 upset victory over Memphis State and we are almost tempted to go along with State. Alabama is just too powerful, though, and a Bear Bryant club seldom gets overconfident. We like Alabama in what could be a close one.

About the Home Front

Bay High and St. Stanislaus both came up with impressive triumphs last week, the Rockchaw beating Ben Franklin 38-0 and the Tigers whipping Perkinson 33-0. Both clubs have some good players on their teams, several of whom will be back next season.

Side Bars

Squirrel season opened Wednesday. The limit per day is five and Game Warden Nolan Lechner notes all hunters had better be sure to get their license.

Kathleen Schaefer Chosen for Girl Scout Round-Up

Kathleen Schaefer is one of 31 selectees named by the Gulf Coast Girl Scout Council to attend the senior round-up at Buxton Bay State Park, Vermont, next summer. Training camps for the selectees and alternates will be held between now and July.

Tigers Overwhelm Perk For Homecoming Victory

The Bay High Tigers of Coach Lance Lumpkin used a devastating rushing offense coupled with a defense that never allowed their opponents to penetrate beyond their ten yard line in overpowering Perkinson 33-0 Friday night in a Gulf Coast Conference engagement.

Bay High got right to work following the crowning of Ripple Rausch as homecoming queen during pre-game ceremonies and never were threatened. The Bullpups, unable to gain a first down after taking the opening kickoff on their own 24, punted to Bay High, with halfback Donald Saucier returning the boot from the Bay High 35 to the 45. The Tigers picked up a first down on a seven yard blast through the line by fullback Bobby Van Calsem and a four yard gain by Saucier, but Van Calsem fumbled on the next play, something he rarely does, and the Bullpups took over at the Perkinson 44.

Stanislaus Dumps Ben Franklin 38-0

St. Stanislaus struck for a quick touchdown on the first play of the game, took a 7-0 halftime lead, and for the second straight week broke the contest wide open in the second half in romping to a 38-0 win over Ben Franklin High School here Saturday night.

The Rocks carried the opening kickoff back to the 44 yard line, and on the first play from scrimmage, halfback Waldo Caceres broke loose for 23 yards and a first down at the Ben Franklin 33. Halfback Golden Jones then scooted through to score and when Caceres added the extra point, the Rocks led 7-0.

BHS Beats Perk...

Thirty seconds later Bay High had another six points. Linebacker Teddo Thomas intercepted a pass and went 25 yards untouched to score. Again Lizana drove into the line for the extra point giving Bay High a comfortable 27-0 lead.

The final Bay High touchdown came in the opening moments of the final period and came on the longest run of the game. Van Calsem, Saucier and Peterson moved the ball from the Bay High five to the 29 in six plays, and Van Calsem then drove over the left side of the line, broke away, and traveled 71 yards down the western sideline to score. Peterson's kick from placement was no good. Tiger recovered the remainder of the way and the only other three was in the waning minutes when Perk drove from their own 44 to the Tiger 11 only to be stopped by the gun.
